Qudos was founded by a team of artisan designers who share a passion for innovative design. Our products pioneer an inspirational new way of living with contemporary appliances for any room in the home.

We create quality stoves that deliver in both form and function, and we are committed to ensuring all our products are designed, tested, and manufactured to the highest quality standards. Combined with a totally customer focused aftersales service, we can ensure years of enjoyment from your fireplace. Throughout development and production, rigorous tests are applied and stringent guidelines are followed, before undergoing thorough performance and safety inspections at an accredited independent testing facility. At Qudos we want you to love your stove. That's why we have put such thought into our designs and only use the very best quality components.

Gas Stoves
